Confidential Non-Disclosure Agreement

There is no set formula for an NDA. You should always consult an attorney with respect to your specific invention. This is a sample form only and does not create an attorney-client relationship with Absolute Technology Law Group, LLC.

Between:

[Company name and address] "Receiving Party"

and

[Your name and address] "Disclosing Party"

1. On the understanding that both parties are interested in meeting to consider possible collaboration in developments in developments arising from [your name]'s ("Disclosing Party") [describe your invention here], it is agreed that all information whether oral, written or otherwise, that is supplied to the Receiving Party in the course of any meeting shall be treated as confidential by the receiving party.

2. The Receiving Party undertakes not to use the information for any purpose, other than for the purpose of considering collaboration, without obtaining the written agreement of the Disclosing party.

3. This Agreement applies to both technical and commercial information communicated by either party.

4. This Agreement does not apply to any information in the public domain or which the Receiving Party can show was either already lawfully in their possession prior to its disclosure by the Disclosing Party or acquired without the involvement, either directly or indirectly, or the Disclosing Party.

5. Neither party to this Agreement shall retain any documents or items connected with the disclosure and shall not retain any copies or likenesses after collaboration has ceased.

6. No disclosure made by the Receiving Party shall create any license, title or interest in respect of any Intellectual Property Rights of the Disclosing Party.

7. After 10 years, from the date hereof each party shall be relieved of all obligations under this Agreement.
